

Transgender ideologies are a danger to children and adolescents, to whom the sexual differentiation into man or woman has not yet been fully revealed by their sex hormones and through self-discovery processes. A teenager who is uncomfortable in his own skin or experiencing an identity crisis, can easily be tempted to explain his everyday problems through the idea of being unable to fit into his gender role, because he could be "in the wrong body" . If you teach a child through television, books and authority figures that a woman can be born in the body of a man, a human in the body of a cat, or Napoleon in the body of John Doe, then contrary to all reason, children will take it seriously exactly as such, internalize it for life and apply it to themselves. Attempts by the LGBT lobby to implement this type of indoctrination to children, by rewriting school books and kindergarten programs, have already been prevented several times by parents' associations. Transgender ideology has been pervasive on the internet for a very long time.

It is important that we grow from this as a society and practice compassion and understanding in our toleration of transgender people. However in doing so we must be cautious to not go one step too far, which could make us leave the very bottom ground of reality.

A "trans woman" is a man who feels like a woman and desires to be treated as a woman by others. This can develop into a serious illness when the affected person can no longer free himself of this idea. Wearing specific clothing, taking steroids, or cosmetically modifying external sexual characteristics does not change this reality. Human gender is genetically determined by sex chromosomes.

Toleration of trans people cannot happen in good faith, if you are driven by shame to fool yourself or your surroundings into believing any differently. On the contrary, you are enabling the introduction of an delusional ideology into our society which can result in mental illness.